Cocos (Keeling) Islands - Paradise Defined

Location

Founded by Lisa Preston in 2011, IOE offers expertly guided land experiences across centred around sustainable and conservation focussed touring.

Getting Here

Flights to Christmas Island twice per week (Tuesdays & Fridays) from Perth – 3 hrs 30 mins
Plane continues a further 90 minutes to the Cocos Islands (CCK).

The island is 19 km x 14.5 km in breadth with 73km of coastline. Two thirds of the island is classified as "Christmas Island National Park".

Boasts the highest concentration of endemic species within an Australian protected area.

Annual Red Crab Migration

The island's epic annual migration of approximately 60 million Red Crabs from the forest to the ocean shoreline to mate and spawn occurs each wet season (November/December).

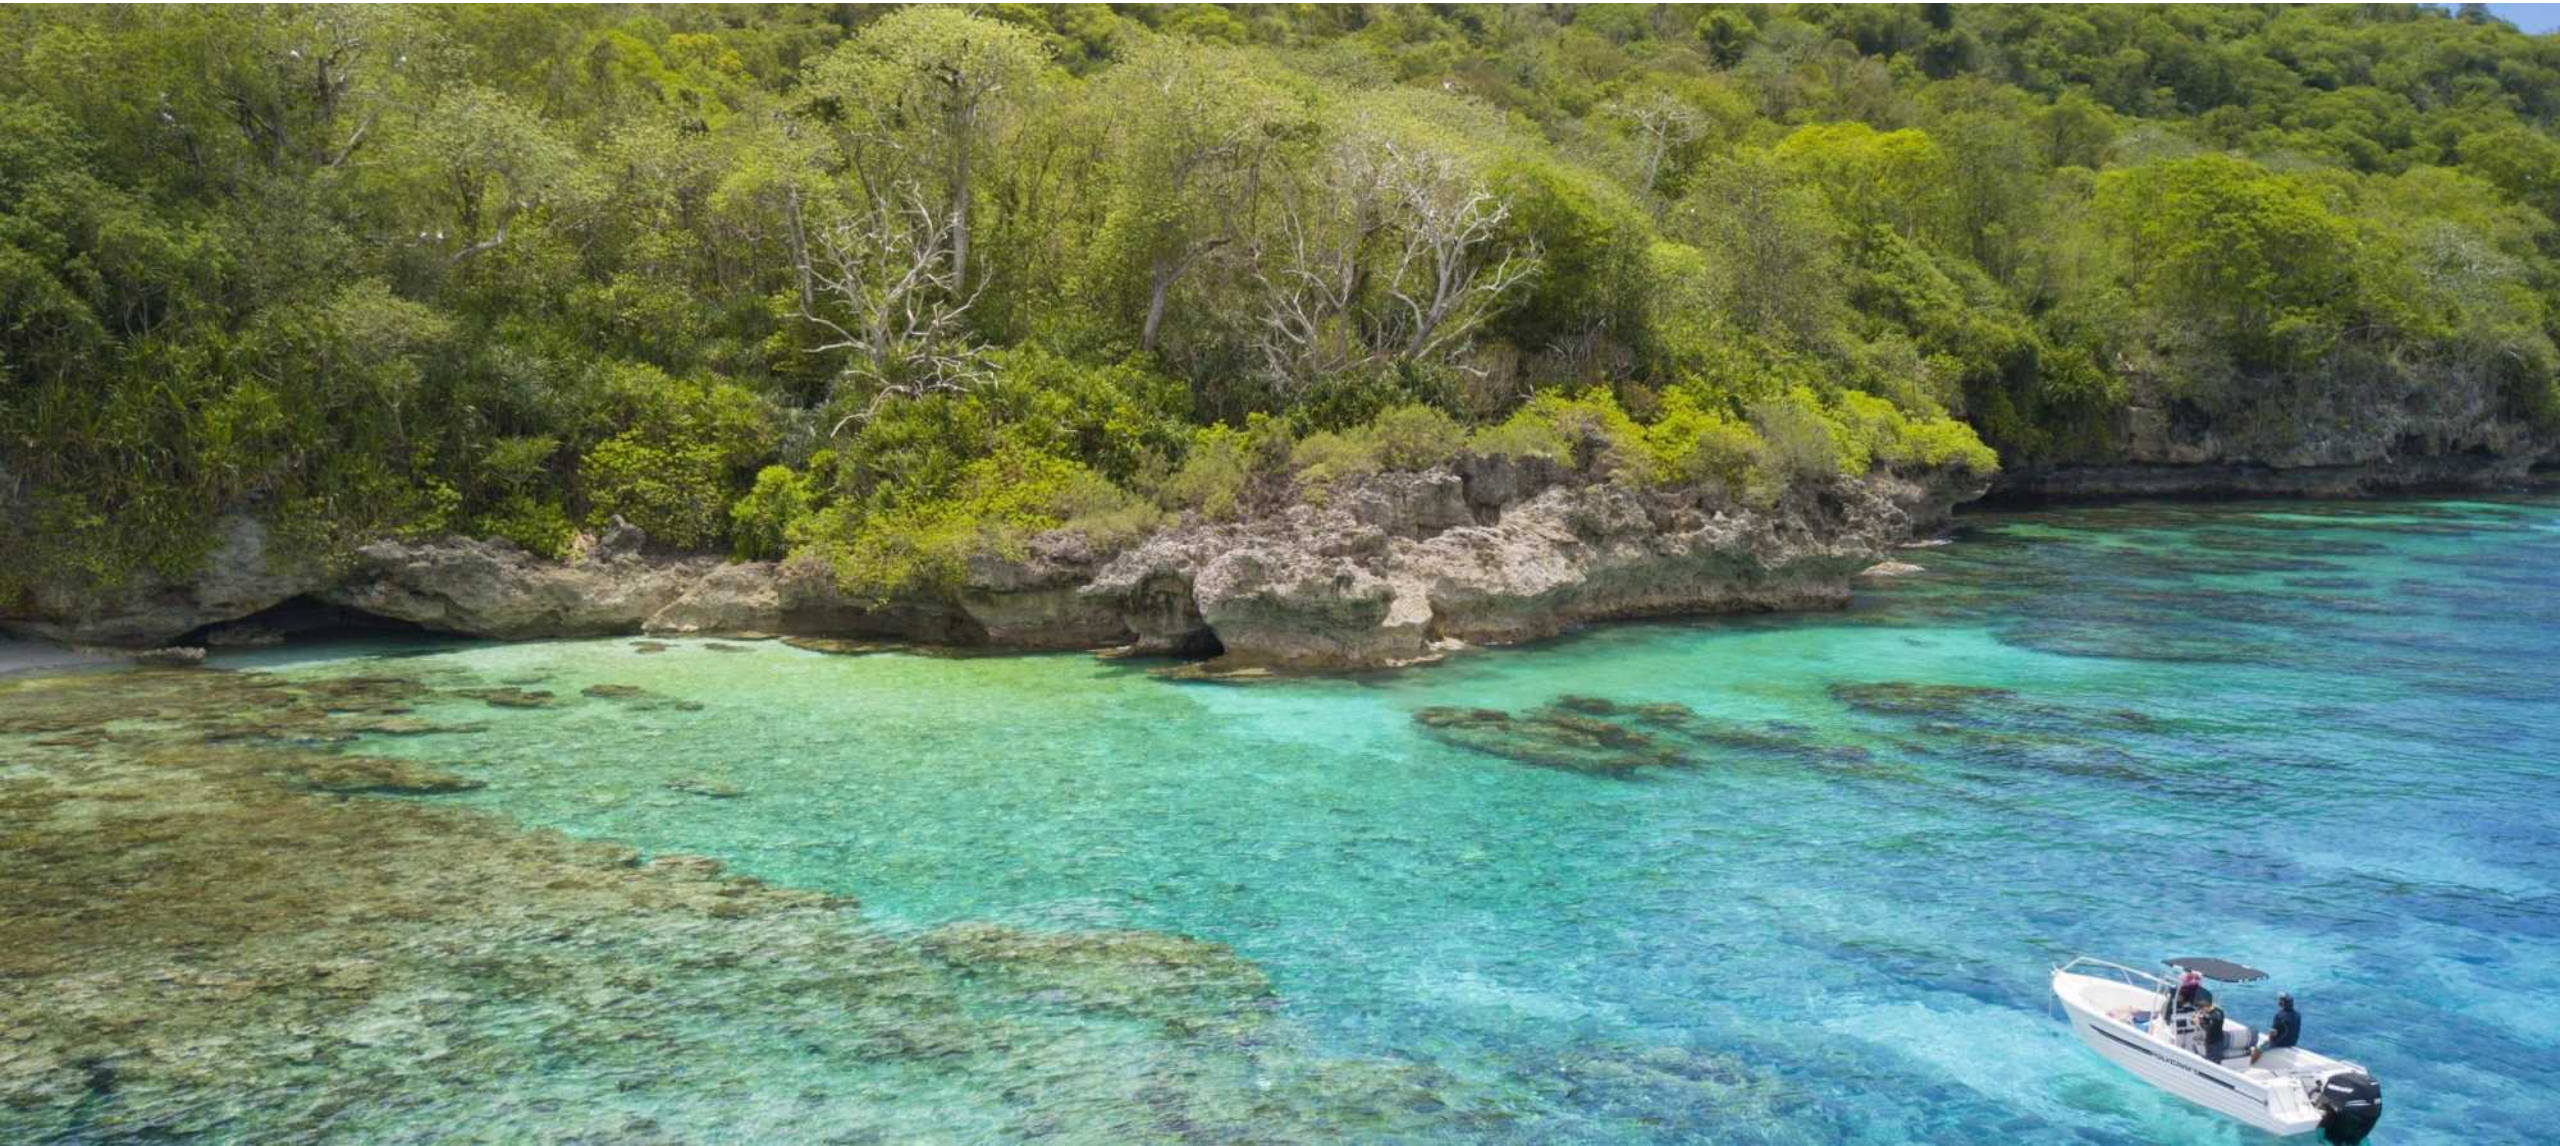

Rated by David Attenborough as one of his top 10 natural experiences.

Around 80,000 seabirds call the island home, including gorgeous frigatebirds, the endangered Abbott's Booby, Christmas Boobook and the Golden Bosun.

Offshore, coral reefs teem with over 680 species of tropical fish species, turtles, dive dolphins, whale sharks, turtles and mantas.

Geological Features

Landscapes include stunning cliffs, blowholes, stepped terraces, waterfalls, abundant caves systems, including subterranean water bodies that are connected to the ocean.

Christmas Island is home to 237 native plant species, including at least 17 species found nowhere else in the world. Home to Jurassic style rainforests through to wetlands.

Cocos (Keeling) Islands

Made up of 26 islands in the main atoll, plus a second smaller atoll to the north, with only two of the islands permanently inhabited

Warm, crystal clear waters teeming with precious marine life in a kaleidoscope.

Activities include kitesurfing/windsurfing, birdwatching, snorkelling/Diving, SUP's, kayaks, canoes, glass bottom boats.
